

Excalibur Glow Me Up!

WORLD PREMIERE: the Excalibur Glow Me Up is the first timepiece to feature luminescent diamonds at night in different hues. The latter is possible thanks to a patented process which is to add luminescent material underneath the diamonds, in the grooves that are holding the stones into place. In addition to that, another patented process allows the timepiece to have the calibre glow! The chamfers of the calibre are painted with luminescent material enhancing the iconic star-shaped bridge by night. The Excalibur Glow Me Up! is also featuring the new RD512SQ calibre, a reengineered calibre with improved power reserve up to 72 hours and increased durability thanks to a new lube. The case is made of EON GOLD, a non-tarnishing alloy of pink gold.
